Demand Cease-Fire Honor In Kashmir

UN Issues Urgent Plea To Pull Back

'Grave Concern' For Pact 'Break' By India, Pakistan

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The U. N. Security Council Monday night issued an urgent demand for India and Pakistan to honor the cease-fire both agreed to and pull their forces back from positions seized during the undeclared war.

There was no reaction immediately from New Delhi or Rawalpindi. After the council's unanimous approval of the resolution, however, representatives of India and Pakistan at the United Nations each blamed the other's government for the breaches in the cease-fire.

Since the truce agreement last Wednesday, major clashes have been reported at two points along the cease-fire line, in the Lahore sector and in India's Rajasthan State, on the southern front. No withdrawal of forces has been reported on either side.

The Security Council's new cease-fire demand was introduced by U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, the council's president for September. The resolution expressed "grave concern that the cease-fire agreed to unconditionally by the governments of India and Pakistan is not holding."

It demanded that both nations "honor their commitments" by silencing their guns and withdrawing "all armed personnel" to the positions held before fighting started Aug. 5.

Goldberg said the resolution was prompted by the council's concern over a report from Secretary-General U. Thant that the cease-fire was not holding up.

Goldberg tried to avert another bitter exchange between India and Pakistan in the council hall by calling for adjournment right after the resolution was adopted. Before he could bang his gavel, however, Indian Ambassador G. Parthasarathi asked for the floor.

Prosecutors Ousted In Murder Trial

HAYNEVILLE, Ala. (AP) — A trial judge removed State Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers and his staff today from the prosecution of a civil rights slaying trial after the state refused to go ahead with the case because of the absence of a witness.

Circuit Judge T. Werth Thagard turned over the prosecution to the regular circuit solicitor and ordered the trial to proceed.

Flowers had taken over the prosecution as the state's legal officer and had tried to get a postponement of the trial but without success.

Solicitor Arthur A. Gamble Jr., who is the regular prosecutor for this circuit, told the court he could go ahead with the trial. Asst. Atty. Gen. Joe Breck Gantt said that the state could not proceed.

Gantt had asked the judge for a nol pross—no prosecution—because a key witness could not be present and on the contention that the state could not get a fair trial. The defense objected to the nol pross—which would have permitted the state to seek a new indictment for murder later.

With the attorney general removed from the case, the trial of Thomas L. Coleman went on as scheduled. Coleman, 55, is under a manslaughter indictment for the shotgun slaying of Jonathan M. Daniels, 27, an Episcopal seminary student from Keene, N.H.

J. D. Walker Named To State Post

Therapy Center Director Resigns Effective Nov. 1

J. D. Walker, director of the Children's Therapy Center here since 1959, has submitted his resignation to the board of directors at the center effective Nov. 1, it was announced today.

Walker, who makes his home here at 1600 West Seventh, has accepted an appointment as supervisor of the newly created department for Sheltered Workshops under Hubert Wheeler, state Commissioner of Education. This new division in the State Department of Education will have the responsibility of setting up and supervising a network of sheltered workshops in the state of Missouri.

The program was initiated and passed into law during the past session of the Missouri legislature. At the present time he will continue his residence in Sedalia, Walker said.

Walker's new position will be a challenging step further into the field of sheltered workshops, a program which he initiated here in late 1963. His development and the ultimate success of the workshop for handicapped young adults here brought considerable recognition for both Sedalia and himself.

He was last year's winner of the Junior Chamber of Commerce distinguished service award for outstanding young men and in receiving the honor was cited especially for his work in developing the workshop. Walker also received the state Jaycee DSA award for the same year.

A native Kansan, Walker holds an M.A. degree in logopedics from Wichita University and has been quite active in Sedalia civic affairs. He is a captain in the National Guard, member of the Kiwanis and Jaycee clubs, St. Patrick's Catholic Church and manages a Little League baseball team.

Walker submitted his resignation today at a special luncheon meeting of the center's board of directors.

Two-Year Sentence To Sedalia Youth

A Sedalia youth, 18-year-old Donald Connor, 1025 East Third, was sentenced to two years imprisonment in Cooper County Circuit Court at Booneville Monday after he entered a plea of guilty before Judge Frank W. Hayes on a charge of burglary and stealing.

Connor was one of three young men charged in connection with a Nov. 24, 1964, break-in and theft at a Pleasant Green store in Cooper County owned by Ewing Hurt. The other two, James W. Hayes, 18, Pilot Grove, and Charles Ward, 18, Route 2, Sedalia, had been sentenced previously.

At the time of their arrests last year, the Sheriff's Department here said the trio was also implicated in a tool shed robbery on the Richard Parkhurst farm here.

Kosygin Outlines New Plan

New Way of Life For Soviet People To Improve Status

MOSCOW (AP) — The outline of a new way of life for Soviet Communist party managers and store operators was laid before the Soviet public today in hopes it would stimulate home folk and foreign peoples to a fresher belief in Communist successes.

More than three pages of Pravda, the Soviet Communist party paper, were filled with the new plan outlined by Premier Alexei N. Kosygin at the opening session of the party Central Committee's fall meeting Monday.

Kosygin said the Soviet Union could and should do a better job with its factories, both to please the people who flock into presently unappealing stores and to convince newly liberated countries that the Communists can show a better way than has been shown in the past.

For the Soviet Union, revision and improvement is vital. Its rate of increase in industrial production has slowed down in recent years despite its discovery of some of the richest natural resources in the world.

Soviet workers according to the Communist scheme of things should be the most eager toilers since by doctrine they own the places where they work. But they continue to be far less productive, man for man, than workers in the West who work for the free enterprise system so much abused here.

The new plan outlined by Kosygin is aimed at encouraging both workers and factory bosses to produce goods that will sell both at home and abroad. If they succeed, they will get more pay, more vacation, better homes and shorter hours.

To encourage factory managers, a whole cluster of party agencies which have had a finger in the production pie are

MANILA — A killer volcano, slumbering in the middle of a mountain lake since 1911 when it claimed more than 3,000 lives, exploded today with sudden violence. Authorities said the island on which the volcano is located was cut off from rescuers, making it impossible to determine the fate of the 2,000 persons living there. This newspaper spots the disaster area 40 miles south of Manila. (UPI)

21 Known Dead On Taal Island

MANILA (AP) — The Taal Volcano erupted today and veiled in smoke and flame the fate of about 2,000 islanders who farmed on and around its gentle slopes.

The Philippine constabulary said 21 persons are known dead.

Intense heat barred rescue boats from landing on the 12.5-square-mile island centered around the volcano.

Lava, ash and steaming mud covered more than half of the island, a scenic beauty spot on the tip of Luzon, 40 miles south of Manila.

"I don't know when we can get in," said a constabulary officer at Batangas, the provincial capital. "We have four motorboats ready."

The eruption was Taal's 19th in recorded history.

The 18th, in 1911, is reported here to have killed 1,335 people. The exact toll, however, never became known. It has been estimated by the World Almanac, an authoritative reference work, as 3,000.

Taal came to life again at 2:30 a.m. with an earth-shattering roar. A column of flames and smoke, steam and lava spewed 15,000 feet into the air.

A handful of refugees from the island were known to have made it to safety across the lake. Others were reported to have drowned in boats that capsized as they frantically tried to flee. Still others may be alive on that section of the island which appeared from the air to be relatively untouched.

However, a plane which managed to fly low over the island late today reported no signs of life.

Between 4,000 and 7,000 refugees were being cared for in camps set up along Tagaytay Ridge, which borders the inland lake. But most of these were from areas surrounding the lake.

By late afternoon the periodic blasts from the volcano appeared to be subsiding. However, authorities said it was still far too dangerous to send boats from the outer shores of Lake Taal to determine the fate of the islanders.

The volcano had been making ominous noises for some time, the temperature of the lake had been rising, and those living on its slopes had been fearful. Reports from the scene said they began fleeing the island during the night.

The last eruption was in 1911, when, according to local estimates, 1,335 people died.

Jury Acquits Policeman In Shooting

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A jury of eight men and four women acquitted today a police lieutenant accused of shooting and wounding a youth he mistakenly believed had raped his daughter.

The jury, given the case late Monday, deliberated an hour and a half before finding Lt. Thomas E. O'Neal, 41, innocent of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder.

Conviction could have brought a prison sentence of 14 years. The suspended veteran officer, who faces a police board of review hearing Nov. 2, smiled and told newsmen: "I hope to get back on the force."

In final argument Monday, his attorney pointed to O'Neal and said:

"There, but for the grace of God, go you or I."

The prosecutor pointed to the same man.

"He believed in good law enforcement, except when it applied to his own family. He took the law into his own hands. He wanted to be judge, jury and executioner."

A jury was asked Monday to decide the case of Lt. Thomas E. O'Neal after hearing final summations of a tangled tale of violence — and irony.

O'Neal shot the wrong man, police said. Carl E. Norman, 21, was cleared, recovered, and testified against O'Neal.

Jury Rules No Felony In Man's Death

Coroner's Panel In Lengthy Probe Of Fatal Incident

A six-man coroner's jury heard some two hours and 45 minutes of testimony Monday night in the death of Thomas Griffin, 37, 403 North Montebau, who died seven hours after a northside altercation here Sunday afternoon, and then ruled his death was not the result of a felony.

Coroner Dr. C. Gordon Stauffacher empaneled the jury to probe the death of Griffin, who died about 10:40 p.m. Sunday at Bothwell Hospital from what two Sedalia physicians testified was a cardiac arrest.

Griffin was wounded in a ruckus in the 400 block of North Montebau about 3:35 p.m. near the Wiggle Inn. He had been involved in an altercation with John Taylor, 32, 508 North Washington, wounded Taylor with a knife and then was shot in the right thigh by a man who intervened in an attempt to halt the fight.

Exonerated of any felony charge in the incident was 30-year-old Maurice Smith, Route 2, Waynesville, the manager of a nightclub there.

Smith, who embraced his wife, Marie, in relief in the hall outside the courtroom following the inquest, must still face a city misdemeanor charge, however. Following the inquest he was served a copy of the city warrant by Assistant Chief of Police Charles Knapp and Smith went to police headquarters where he posted a $100 bond for appearance in Police Court on Oct. 4 before Judge Lawrence Englund. The city warrant accuses Smith of discharging a firearm in the 400 block of North Montebau inflicting serious injury to Thomas Griffin, the decedent, by shooting him in the right leg.

The coroner's jury — composed of Maurice F. Hogan, Robert Schulz, Adolph Glenn, William J. Jarrett, Herbert D. Jones and John W. Wilson — took their oath and were read their charge by Dr. Stauffacher in the Pettis County Circuit Courtroom at 7:30 p.m. They then retired to the Allen & Sons Funeral Home where they viewed Griffin's body and returned to the courtroom where testimony began at 7:55 p.m.

Dr. Stauffacher presided at the inquest and the witnesses were questioned by Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Fritz and Assistant (Please turn to page 2, col. 3)

First Degree Murder Charge In Shooting Incident at Fortuna

Dick Hickman, 25-year-old Fortuna, Mo. service station operator, has been charged with first degree murder in the death of Lauren E. McFarland, 34, also of Fortuna, in the aftermath of an argument and shooting late Saturday night.

Montebau County Sheriff Walter Haldiman said the charge was filed late Monday and a preliminary hearing has been set tentatively for Oct. 12 before Judge Walter G. Heidbreder in California.

Hickman is free on $10,000 bond, the sheriff said.

McFarland, a farmer and gravel truck hauler, died in a Conn ambulance from Tipton while enroute to Bothwell Hospital Saturday night.

State Highway Patrol Sgt. D. J. Slevin, Versailles, said McFarland and Hickman quarreled outside Hickman's service station and that McFarland was wounded three times by shots from a .22 caliber pistol allegedly fired by Hickman.

Rangers, Viet Cong Wage Major Battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Hundreds of Vietnamese rangers and Viet Cong fighters were battling late today in the Phu Cu Pass area, a U.S. military spokesman reported.

The Viet Cong suffered heavy losses last week in the area, which is 295 miles northeast of Saigon and 45 miles northwest of Qui Nhon.

A Vietnamese army ranger unit reported that it was engaged with a large Viet Cong element, possibly one or two battalions.

About 600 men are in a government ranger battalion and 500 to 600 in a Viet Cong battalion.

Another Vietnamese army unit reported making contact at a nearby point with a Viet Cong group believed to be of company size.

Tactical air strikes were launched to aid the government forces.

No further details on the fighting and no estimates of casualties on either side were immediately available.

A U.S. spokesman reported the death of three Americans in the crash of a chartered plane Monday about 25 miles west of Saigon. He said seven Vietnamese policemen guarding the wreckage were killed during the night by Viet Cong small arms fire.

It was believed the plane was shot down as it was coming in for a landing at Bau Trai, in Hau Ngai Province. It crashed about 200 yards short of the airstrip.

The Weather

Doesn't Want
Boy Back,
Mother Says

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Detroit mother undergoing psychiatric tests has told investigators her 13-year-old mute and mentally retarded son is a good boy but she doesn't want him back.

"Someone else must take him now," said Mrs. Victor Thorne, 44, who abandoned her son, Richard, at Miami International Airport last week.

Mrs. Thorne hasn't seen her son since she arrived in Miami Sunday night.

Mrs. Thorne spent Monday night with the family of Barron Shields, a juvenile court investigator. The investigator quoted her as saying: "I've gone as far as I can."

Shields said Mrs. Thorne did not talk much about Richard but said, "Maybe someone else can do more for him; he's a good boy."

Richard, whose plight attracted nationwide attention, has been unable to speak since he suffered brain damage from encephalitis and pneumonia at the age of 18 months.

Dr. Ben Sheppard, chief juvenile court judge, ordered a psychiatric examination for Mrs. Thorne after her arrival in Miami.

"The boy will not be released until I am sure there will not be a recurrence of this episode," said Sheppard.

Jury Rules

ant Prosecutor James T. Buckley.

The testimony of 19 witnesses, including Smith himself as the last upon the stand, concluded at 10:50 p. m. and the jury was back at 11:20 p. m. with a verdict.

They found that Griffin "came to his death as a result of being shot by Maurice Smith while Smith was attempting to prevent further knifing of John Taylor, who was fighting with the deceased. No felony."

All witnesses who observed the trouble in the street between Griffin and Taylor identified Griffin as the aggressor and both Taylor and Smith, who went to his aid, criticized the crowd of some 30 persons for not intervening or notifying police more promptly.

When Taylor had completed his testimony, he asked Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Fritz if he could say something else.

"I would like to say this more or less to the citizens of Sedalia. I know someone had to see this and saw I was defenseless. Why didn't someone try to stop it?" Taylor asked.

He testified it was his belief Smith's intention was not to harm either himself or Griffin, but rather to help both by breaking up the fight.

Taylor testified he was highly intoxicated at the time of his encounter with Griffin and said he had consumed that day "eight to 12" half pints of bourbon, which he had purchased the night before at a local liquor store.

He said he met Griffin as Griffin was working on his auto in the street there and said "one word led to another" until the fight broke out. He testified he had no weapon, but Griffin advanced upon him with a knife, wounding him four times.

Smith chose to testify, although he had been advised of his rights by Prosecutor Fritz and reminded that he was not required to give testimony. He said he was in the Wiggle Inn, a northside tavern nearby, when the fight between Griffin and Taylor broke out in the street outside.

"I went out and saw John Taylor, a fellow I had a few beers with earlier. This fellow (Griffin) I had never seen before was cutting him pretty bad. Twenty or 30 people were standing around. . . They seemed to be enjoying it."

Smith testified when he attempted to intervene, Griffin made a menacing remark to him and that he returned to his car to obtain a pistol thinking that the sight of the weapon might break up the fight.

Smith said he tried to shoot into the ground between the two combatants and that Griffin, who was advancing on Taylor, apparently stepped into the bullet when the gun discharged.

Police, who reached the scene a short time after receiving a telephone call at 3:36 p. m., sent both Griffin and Taylor to Bothwell Hospital in ambulances. Officers said, however, that they were unable to obtain much information from bystanders at the scene and the suspect in the shooting, Smith, had left the scene.

Authorities did little to further the investigation at the scene until Monday morning after the death of Griffin and after Smith had surrendered himself to Sgt. Perry Franklin at 119 North Broadway.

Police patrolman Frank Luck said he was called away from the scene when Taylor gave Bothwell Hospital personnel difficulty and fled the hospital. He was found on Ingram Avenue, just north of 13th Street, Luck said and returned to finish treatment.

Dr. A. R. Maddox, who was called to treat Griffin at the hospital, described his condition as very good at the time he first saw him and reported there was little bleeding. After X-rays to determine if the bullet had caused a fracture, Maddox testified that Griffin was taken to a hospital ward and a nurse was instructed to watch closely for any bleeding to his leg beneath a pressure bandage applied. Heavy bleeding did develop later, Maddox said, indicating arterial damage in the leg and Griffin was prepared for surgery to correct the condition.

The surgeon, Dr. R. L. Glass, who was the first witness to testify at the inquest, said surgery to Griffin's leg was urgent as the arterial damage raised the possibility of a loss of limb. But Glass said as Griffin was being anesthetized for surgery, he suffered the fatal cardiac arrest. Glass testified attempts to resuscitate him both by massaging his chest externally and by opening the chest cavity for direct heart massage proved futile.

Griffin had no previous medical history of heart trouble, the doctors testified, and Dr. Maddox said he had treated him several times in past years, but only for colds or virus infections. However, evidence of an old inflammation around the sack containing the heart was found after Griffin's death, Dr. Glass testified.

The bullet had entered Griffin high in the right rear thigh and emerged in the front near his knee, the doctors said, severing the artery as it passed through the limb.

Authorities testified that no bullet hole was found in the front of Griffin's trousers where the slug had emerged, but Monday morning when they returned to the scene to investigate, the bullet was found in the street in the 400 block of North Montebau. Deputy Sheriff Jack Coutts testified Marie Smith, the wife of Mr. Smith, picked up the slug and handed it to him as officers were searching the street.

Police recovered the pistol, a .38 caliber snub-nosed revolver, from Smith Monday morning when he surrendered himself. The knife wielded by Griffin was located at the home of Mrs. Mary Scroggins, 414 North Montebau, who had picked it up in her yard, officers said.

Accidents

Both drivers sustained minor injuries in a two-car collision at Main and Grand at 11:12 p. m. Monday.

Police listed the autos involved as a 1963 Dodge, driven east on Main by Claude Allen Cooper, 33, 1806 South Prospect, and a 1958 Chevrolet, also eastbound and driven by Houston Goodwin, 30, 112 East Cooper.

Neither Cooper or Goodwin were taken for emergency treatment however.

Damage was recorded to the right front of the Cooper car and to the front of the Goodwin machine.

One person was injured in an accident involving a car and a parked truck in the 500 block of West Second at 6:46 p. m. Monday.

A 1955 Chevrolet, driven by Robert E. Mullen, 80, 403 Dal-Whi-Mo, collided with a parked 1964 International truck belonging to the U. S. Air Force. The identity of the airman to whom the truck was issued was not established at Capital press time.

The rear of the truck and the right front of the car were damaged.

Mullen's wife, Lula M. Mullen, 70, complained of injuries to the chest and back but refused to go to the hospital.

Mullen was issued a police summons for careless and imprudent driving.

No one was injured in a car-truck collision at 20th and Missouri at 3:36 p. m. Monday, however both vehicles were damaged.

A 1961 one-and-a-half ton van truck, owned by the Holsum Bread Co. and driven by Elbert C. Fidler, 34, 106 Helen Circle, collided with a 1958 Ford, driven by Arvis Lee Perry, 22, 907 East 11th.

The right fender, door and windshield of the Ford were damaged while the left front of the truck was damaged.

Shoemaker's wrecker towed the truck from the scene. The car left under its own power.

Magistrate
Court

William White, 707 West Pettis, was arraigned in Magistrate Court Tuesday morning on two bad check charges and requested a preliminary hearing.

Judge Frank Armstrong scheduled the hearing for Oct. 12 and set White's bond at $1,000 each on the two charges. White, arrested early Tuesday morning by police and turned over to the Sheriff's Department, was returned to the county jail in lieu of bond.

On one charge White is accused of passing a $55 bogus check to Ina Jean Lange with the check purportedly being drawn by C. W. Brown. On May 14 he is charged with issuing a no funds check for $10 to George E. Bryant of the Sedalia Cleaners.

Police Court

Houston Goodwin, 112 East Cooper, charged with careless and imprudent driving in connection with an accident, pleaded innocent and after a hearing the case was dismissed.

Claude Allen Cooper, 1806 South Prospect, charged with careless and imprudent driving in connection with an accident, pleaded innocent, but after a hearing was found guilty and fined $10.

The case of Wanda Cates, Burton's Trailer Court, charged with disturbing the peace on complaint of Irving Wasserman, was continued.

The case of Irving Wasserman, Route 2, charged with assault on complaint of Wanda Cates, was dismissed.

Kenneth Anderson, Route 4, charged with parking on the wrong side of the street, forfeited a $2 bond.

Police Reports

J. W. Woffard, 1428 South Park, an employee of the Phillips Pipe Line, reported the theft of two-way radio parts from a truck owned by the company while it was parked in the 700 block of East Third. The loss, which occurred since Sept. 25, was set at $100.

A Sedalia man was arrested by police Monday night on a city warrant signed by his wife charging him with assaulting her with a claw hammer.

Jerry Foster, 34, 413 East Broadway, was held overnight in the city jail and then released Tuesday morning on a $100 security bond for appearance in Police Court on Oct. 4. Police said Patrolman Henry Randall took Foster's wife, Helen, first to the police station

Lions Committee
To Capital To Seek Assistance

Members of the Sedalia Lions Club committee in support of the Governor's Outdoor Recreation Program have scheduled a trip to Jefferson City with judges of the Pettis County Court on Oct. 6 to discuss possible sources of outside financial assistance for public recreation projects. It was announced Monday by W. H. Bunn, chairman of the civic club panel.

The judges and committee members are to meet at 10 a. m. with William E. Towell, director of the Missouri Conservation Commission, who also heads the governor's outdoor recreation program. The group will also have the opportunity to tour the commission's new showplace headquarters on North Ten Mile Drive in the capital city.

Efforts toward development of approximately a 3,500 acre recreational area south of Sedalia are being spearheaded by the Lions committee, but such a project would need county government participation in order for federal funds to be obtained, Bunn pointed out. The recreational area would include a large lake of nearly 1,000 acres.

The three judges of the County Court, C. Berry Elliott, presiding judge, C. M. Purchase, Western District, and E. L. Birdsong, Eastern District, have been invited to make the trip. Support of the Lions Club effort has been received from Mayor L. L. Studer and the City Council.

Members of the civic club committee besides Bunn, include Virgil Herrick, R. B. Cain, D. Kelly Scruton, Thomas P. Baker, Russell Rhoads, W. C. Askew, Abe Silverman, Don King, William O. Hiatt, Eugene Gregory and Addison Taylor.

Infection Feared In Malone's Illness

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Dorothy Malone's temperature has risen, indicating she might have an infection, a spokesman at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital said today.

"She is still in critical condition and doctors are working to bring the temperature under control," said the spokesman.

Monday evening, doctors removed briefly a tube that had been placed in her windpipe to help her breathing. She was able to whisper, said the spokesman, and was cheerful although she was in pain. She also was able to move her arms and legs, the hospital reported.

Miss Malone, 40, blonde star of television's "Peyton Place," underwent surgery Thursday night to remove blood clots from her lungs.

and then to Bothwell Hospital where she was treated by Dr. J. W. Maunders for several wounds on the head and face and then admitted. Police had held Foster for investigation until Mrs. Foster signed the assault complaint.

to be abolished. These include scores of regional supervisory offices created seven years ago by Nikita Khrushchev.

Much party supervision will be removed from factory premises.

Not the least of the aims outlined by Kosygin is to make the Soviet Union such a showplace of production that the developing countries of Asia, Africa and Latin America will not only buy Soviet goods but will buy the Communist system as well.

Under the new system, Kosygin said, factories will be put on a cost accounting system in some ways similar to that in Western factories.

Under the present general planning system, a factory is assigned its production quota for the year, wage levels are fixed by central authority and machinery is provided from other factories. The main job of the manager is to see to it that his quantity target is reached.

Quality in many instances has fallen far below Western standards.

Under the new program a factory's success will be gauged not only by its quantity production, but on whether what it makes can be sold. Unsold goods hereafter will count against the factory's quota. Stores and warehouses at present are filled with billions of dollars worth of unsaleable goods and unusable equipment.

Jury Acquits

on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder, five men police said did commit the attack on his daughter were on trial, a few doors away, on rape charges.

Parts of the same story were told to both juries. O'Neal's daughter, Shirley, 19, testified — nervously, but without tears — in both courtrooms.

O'Neal, 41, wept uncontrollably as he told how his daughter had told him what had happened: when she was selling cookbooks door to door a youth lured her into a suburban home, promising a sale, and instead a gang of men raped her.

Three days later O'Neal was at West Valley police station, assisting in the investigation, when two men being questioned in connection with the case were being moved down a hall. Officers said he whipped out a pistol and fired, hitting Norman twice.

His attorney, Haig Kehiayan, said O'Neal suffered an emotional blackout.

"He suffered from loss of sleep, lack of food, his daughter's appearance after the attack and the recurring dream that his daughter was in a room with men who acted like animals," he said.

A jury of 9 men and 3 women took the case under submission Monday afternoon, but was soon locked up for the evening.

In the nearby courtroom, a jury of 12 women was to resume hearing testimony today in the trial of the five men.

Space Work
Films Shown
Rotary Club

Two films dealing with the National space program made up an interesting and educational program for members of the Sedalia Rotary Club on Monday noon. The first, "What It's Like Outside" was made from actual films taken of the space walk by Astronaut Ed White, when he was the first American to achieve this feat earlier this year.

The second film, also in color and animated, portrayed the manner in which a manned space capsule would rendezvous with an unmanned space laboratory and was entitled, "Project Gemini."

The program was arranged and introduced by Keith Yount. The films were made available by McDonnell Aircraft Co. through Tom Yount, a brother of Keith.

Lou Tempel, project fund chairman, Arthur Hoffman, treasurer of the fund, and Elmer McClung and James Denny, ticket chairmen for the Travel and Adventure series sponsored by the club gave a report on ticket sales activity. Dr. A. L. Walters was presented an award for selling the most tickets for the series this year. He also was recognized for selling the greatest number for the 1964-65 series.

Bill Jarrett reported the Rotary Club was helping to finance the city-wide Halloween parade to be held on Saturday night, October 30. He reported that arrangements were being made for a parade with twenty-five prizes for best costumes, for band participation, and for a dance to be held on the Safeway parking lot.

Fred Cnic, president, called attention to a Rotary Information Committee meeting to be held in the near future at the home of Emory Bowman, chairman, and asked all Rotarians who had recently joined the club to attend in order to become better acquainted with the objectives of Rotary.

Guests were: P. E. Milster, Raytown Rotarian, a former member of the Sedalia club; Morton Witzgreuter, a guest of Keith Yount and Gary White, a guest of Larry Hale. They were introduced by Firmin Boul.

Invocation was by the Rev. Marvin Sackschewsky. James Denny led in group singing.

Courting Couples
In Defiance of Law

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Police have discovered that a drive to keep courting couples out of public parks at night may have backfired.

The couples are now meeting in temple courtyards, where sanctuary from the law is considered a traditional privilege. Police officials say they have asked monks of the hundreds of temples in this Buddhist nation to help keep the couples out of the courtyards.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I was amused by the letter from the young man who wanted your opinion of males who shave their chests in the interest of comfort, coolness and cleanliness.

It reminded me of a situation which produced a variety of reactions from the men and women who work in my husband's office. I was never able to figure out the REAL story. Maybe you can help.

A friendly, attractive young junior executive used the warm weather as an excuse to remove his necktie and unbutton his shirt. It wasn't just the top button it was three buttons—so the hair on his chest would show. He kept this up even after air-conditioning was installed, which made me suspicious.

The older women thought it was revolting. The younger girls thought it was sexy. My husband said it was because the fellow was vain about his masculinity.

What do you say? — UNRESOLVED.

Dear Unresolved: A man who goes around displaying the hair on his chest may give the impression he is proud of his masculinity, but psychiatrists will tell you that he really is plagued with doubts about his maleness.

Dear Ann Landers: A few years ago my husband and I moved to this city and we do like it here very much. The people made us feel welcome from the first day.

One of my closest friends is a woman who is popular with everyone. Maggie has never met a stranger. All types, ranging from the fanciest people in town to the common, ordinary ones, are crazy about her.

Maggie works in the church and is an active part of everything worthwhile that goes on. Heaven knows where she gets the energy. She has a large family and a big house and yard and does all her own work.

Maggie has only one fault and it bothers me a lot. She goes downtown barefoot and with her hair in curlers. Should I tell her or shouldn't I?—JUST DON'T KNOW.

Dear Just: The postmark on your envelope was Bristow, Okla. Cultural patterns vary from city to city but I can't believe that bare feet and hair curlers are acceptable in the business district of ANY town.

If Maggie came from a city smaller than Bristow (like maybe a reservation) tell her gently that she ought to wear shoes and leave the curlers at home when she goes to town. If she came from a larger city she knows it and doesn't give a darn, so keep quiet.

Dear Ann Landers: You deserve six lashes with a wet hash-mark for your advice to the Army wife whose children have no respect for their dad.

Some children can cope with the everlasting uprooting and the absent father but most Army brats suffer terribly and develop all sorts of complexes. Our children, ages 10 and 12, learned from the cradle that their daddy belongs first to his country and second to us. Naturally, we are disappointed when our personal plans are spoiled by unexpected military orders but this does not lessen our love or respect for him.

Re-think this one, Ann, and answer again. Will you? — A VETERAN.

Dear Veteran: You missed the central point of my reply. Friend. That father was absent even when he was present. The kids ignore him and refuse to take him seriously because he has macaroni where his spine belongs. Had he been a plumber it would have been the same sad story, so don't blame the military. I didn't.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Houk-Stevens Vows Said Aug. 27th

Miss Linda Kay Houk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Houk, Kansas City, became the bride of Fred W. Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude F. Stevens, Knob Noster, Aug. 27 at Kansas City Baptist Temple. The Rev. Wendell Zimmerman officiated.

White and pink gladioli bouquets enhanced the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white floor length satin dress trimmed with seed pearls and rose appliques with a chapel length train. Her veil was held by a crystal and pearl encrusted coronet.

Mrs. Nita Cohen, matron of honor, and Mrs. Roseann Studyvin, bridesmaid, wore white organza over pink taffeta gowns.

Best man was Mr. Robert Stevens, brother of the bridegroom. Groomsman was Mr. J. W. Earp. Ushers were Mr. Jay Blackwell, Mr. Michael Cohen and Mr. John Houk.

After a church reception, the couple left for a wedding trip and is now at home in Kansas City.

The bride attended Central Missouri State College in 1964 and is employed at Hallmark Cards, Kansas City. Mr. Stevens attended Leeton High School and is working at Bar-Rusto Galvanizing Co., Kansas City.

Hoople Prediction Comes True

CLEVELAND — (NEA) — The news item with the letter read:

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — The sweet smell of roses will trail buses here if the Grand Rapids Transit Authority has its way.

The board has recommended Grand Rapids Coach Lines add perfume to its buses' exhaust, following the lead of Detroit and Santa Monica, Calif.

The letter was addressed to Bill Freyse, who draws Our Boarding House — With Major Hoople. It said: Dear Mr. Freyse: Some years back Major Hoople suggested this very same idea.

I just thought you might be interested in digging up that old cartoon and reprinting it.

Best wishes, Dr. Harriet G. Carr, Mt. Rainier, Md.

And right you are, Dr. Carr! Mr. Freyse remembered that story and tracked it down. It ran from Sept. 7 to Oct. 18, 1939. The accompanying panel shows the Old Boy Himself, off and running with his latest invention to revolutionize 20th-Century living.

At the time this invention of the Major's came a cropper, as do so many of his ideas. That's the Major's trouble — his ideas, which always ring of plausibility the way he expounds them — are too far ahead of his time.

On this one the Major's time lead was a cool 26 years.

Tiki House Meeting By Local AAUW

The Tiki House on the King Kamehameha Island at the W. R. Parkhurst farm was the scene of the meeting Monday evening, Sept. 20, of the American Association of University Women.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Bryan Howe, immediate past president, and the executive committee, Mrs. John Zulauf, president, Mrs. Jack Cunningham, Miss Hazel Gray, Mrs. Glen Riekhof and Mrs. Lacy Belt.

As the guests reached the island crossing the wooden bridge they were welcomed in Hawaiian manner by Parkhurst who later explained the architecture of the house Oriental design and its furnishings.

In traditional island style Explorer Scouts, Troop 65, presented the ceremony of blessing which was the custom before the Christian era with John Robert Schondelmeyer carrying the torch as the canoe moved slowly across the lake at twilight to the chants on the drums played by Tim Fine, Danny Paxton and Dale Crawford assisted with the canoe and the lighting of the torches around the lake. All were in native costume. The ceremony was under the direction of Glen Riekhof, troop leader.

Invocation was given by Miss Catherine Garman, and a dinner was served as guests formed two lines, served themselves and were seated at tables decorated with Hawaiian dancing girls and palm trees.

Mrs. George Zulauf, president, presided over the business meeting and group singing was led by Mrs. Mary Faulkner.

New members introduced were: Mary Faulkner, Grace Bucholtz and Charla Hurt.

Special guests were: Elizabeth Mackie, American Field Service student, and members of her American family, Mrs. William Hopkins, and daughters, Jill and Cynthia, Elizabeth, whose home is Salisbury, Rhodesia, extended

Speaking of Equal Rights

A recent decision by the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission could set off legal ripples far beyond what its members intended.

On the basis of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, which bans job discrimination because of sex, as well as race or religion, the commission has ruled that a company may not discharge a female employee simply because she gets married.

Numerous labor contracts have such a provision and many companies have long followed such a policy. The reasoning is that in many cases a married woman would be competing with a man, who usually has a family to support. Such practices have now been declared illegal.

All of which seems fair enough in theory. It does not change the fact, however, that married women are not generally responsible for the support of their families or even of themselves. This has always been the burden of the male of the species.

Indeed, this legal obligation extends to as many families as a man may undertake to establish, as tens of thousands of men who have been divorced and have subsequently remarried well know.

This is as it should be, especially when there are children involved. No father should be allowed to duck his parental responsibilities, nor should any decent man wish to.

But our 19th century laws place an additional burden on men—that of supporting their former wives, even if those women are childless, even if they are working and even if they may be earning more than their former husbands.

It would not be surprising if some of these alimony-paying men attempted to explore the possibilities opened up by the Civil Rights Act—one of which might well be the legal finding that equal rights in the matter of employment and wages, now guaranteed to women by law, also carry with them equal responsibilities in the matter of support.

Ivory Coast Battles Communism

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson today writes another report on the Communist drive to take over Africa.)

By DREW PEARSON

ABIDJAN, Ivory Coast—During the days when Africa was a checkerboard of European colonies, names were as picturesque as the tribal headdress. There was the Gold Coast, the Slave Coast and the Ivory Coast. The Gold Coast has now assumed the more sophisticated African name of Ghana; the Slave Coast has become Nigeria, but the onetime French colony of the Ivory Coast has been less pretentious. Despite the fact that elephants have been pushed back by man's ever encroaching cultivation of the land, and despite the fact that Abidjan, its capital, has long ceased to be a trading center for elephant hunters, the country retains its original name.

Not much resembling ivory is in Abidjan today except the beautiful ivory-colored skyscrapers and hotels built by the greatest influx of American, French and British firms that has invaded many of the new African republics.

For the Ivory Coast has become the wealthiest nation in West Africa and is staging the most vigorous African battle against Chinese communism.

To the west of the Ivory Coast is socialist Guinea which has used as many as 1,200 Communist advisers. Its president, Sekou Toure, came back from Moscow last month to announce that the Russians would build a huge hydroelectric dam on the Kondore River to manufacture aluminum. It will be bigger than the U.S.-financed Volta River dam in Ghana. Yet the Guinean economy is limping badly.

A Second West Germany

Immediately to the east of the Ivory Coast is Ghana, another socialist state supposedly profiting from various trade and aid agreements it has signed with the Communist nations.

Today, Ghana is frantically using the printing presses and $800,000,000 from the international monetary fund in order to keep its head above water as a nation.

Meanwhile, both Ghanians and Guineans are flocking outside their socialist borders to the prosperous Ivory Coast looking for jobs. Like West Germany before the building of the Berlin wall, job opportunities are siphoning the best labor from all over West Africa to the Ivory Coast.

The Ivory Coast is now the third largest coffee producer in the world, ranking only after Brazil and Colombia; the second largest cocoa producer; also ranks high in bananas and tropical lumber. As a result of its free enterprise policies, it was given the largest financial grant extended by the Common Market—$32,000,000 to plant 32,000 hectares of palm oil trees—a new type of dwarf palm tree which will produce six times as much oil and is low so it can be easily picked.

Out of 55 foreign factories established in West Africa in 1963, 28 came to the Ivory Coast. As a result, the onetime backward fishing village of Abidjan has now become one of the most prosperous and beautiful cities of modern Africa.

In order to get the full story of the Ivory

The World Today

GOP Seeking Modern World Ideas

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have been told by one of themselves that they need new ideas.

Gov. John H. Reed of Maine told a group of Republicans here "we have been suffering for a number of years with ideas gaps to cope with the problems of the modern world."

House Republicans, less than productive with new ideas, are hoping task forces they created will come up with some to be used in the 1966 congressional campaigns.

But one of them, asked what the party stands for now, said "family unity." Another said "fiscal responsibility." This sounded like an echo of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

He recently said Republicans should take their stand on fiscal responsibility, frugality and integrity.

Meanwhile, the Democrats, under President Johnson's leadership, are rolling through Congress programs that have something for the poor, Negroes, children in school — and through them their parents, old people, and, through excise tax cuts, something for everybody.

In the 1964 elections the Republicans wound up in the Senate with only 32 seats to the Democrats 68 and in the House with only 140 to the Democrats' 295.

While the Senate Republicans, under the leadership of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, have been rather quiet on Johnson, House Republicans under the leadership of Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Michigan and Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin have been his constant critics.

They're still searching for issues to use to try to make the Republican party more attractive to voters.

"Successful Republicans," Reed said, "must be able to convince the voter that our policies are superior. . . that they can provide the better life and the integrity that is a vital part of this environment."

"We cannot solve tomorrow's problems with yesterday's thinking."

House Republicans revealed their thinking this year on some of the major pieces of legislation which were passed by the House where Democrats, outnumbering Republicans more than two to one, could shove bills through.

This is how House Republicans voted on some of that major legislation:

On the medical care bill for people 65 and older: 70 Republicans for, 68 against; on the $1.1-billion Appalachia aid bill: 25 Republicans for, 109 against.

On the $1.3-billion school aid bill: 36 Republicans for, 96 Republicans against; on the $7.8-billion house bill, with rent subsidies for low-income families: 26 Republicans for, 110 against.

On the $1.9-billion anti-poverty bill: 24 Republicans for, 110 against. On the civil rights measure of 1965 — the voting rights bill — the House Republicans were more affirmative, voting 111 for, only 20 against.

At this point in their history Republicans would probably be hard put to say — if anyone of them tried to speak for all — what their philosophy is since they are beset with splinter groups.

Ray C. Bliss, the GOP national chairman, earlier this year expressed grave worry about the effect of these splinters on the party. Later he invited them to come in under the Republican tent.

"Once they are formed," he said, "I am going to try to find a way to work with them."

There are perhaps 15 different groups which might fit — or want to fit — under the Republican tent although, as one newspaper said, Republicans have splinters to the right of them and splinters to the left of them.

The Mature Parent

Shy Off From Bullies

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: I am troubled by something you said in a recent column about a boy who let other children bully him. You said: "It is sensible to submit to bullies when the submission is profitable to us."

How is this Christian love? Are we not our brother's keeper, even when he is a bully? Should we not resist him to avoid encouraging his bullying even though it isn't profitable to us? Aren't we required to teach him the error of his ways?

Answer: To the disciples who were about to start out into the world with their message, Jesus said, "And whosoever shall not receive you nor hear your words, depart . . . shake off the dust of your feet."

That doesn't sound to me like approval of "keeping" a brother who doesn't want us as his "keeper."

No, I don't believe in hanging around bullies in order to impress them with our concern for their moral improvement. In my view, that's to become a bully ourselves. So it's my personal policy to depart from bullies as soon as I spot one and leave the arrangement of circumstances that will teach him the error of his ways to God.

Sometimes, however, association with a bully is profitable enough to make it worthwhile to hang around and submit to his carryings-on.

It may be profitable, for example, for a child to hang around a bully if he needs to learn how to recognize one when he meets one. So, as long as the bully doesn't physically injure him, I'd permit the hanging around until the protesting feelings aroused by the bully's bossiness reached the point where the child would be finished with it.

It can also be profitable to hang around bullies who pay us excellent salaries to do work we enjoy. Under such circumstances, we'd be pretty silly to shake the dust of our advantageous employment off our feet.

Of course, if we feel obliged to be his moral "keeper" and teach him the error of his ways, the advantageous employment may end in our nervous breakdown. We can't teach bullies the error of their ways until those God-arranged circumstances break them into reachable humility because bullies are people who are certain there is no error in their ways. Struggle against this certainty in the hope they'll accept us as their "keeper" and moral teaching is a waste of time as well as a frightful strain on our nervous systems.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Poor Sneezing May Shorten Your Life

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Sneezing, long considered a simple reflex, can also be an art. It seems there are almost as many ways to sneeze as there are to skin a cat — but there is only one safe way.

Since everyone sneezes at times and with the approach of colder weather will probably do so often, it behooves us to perfect our sneezing technique.

Fortunately the habit of inhaling snuff to induce sneezing and thereby clear out the head is no longer an indication of gentility. Golden snuff-boxes have found their way into the collections of antique novelties.

If you are a closed-mouth sneezer I urge you to mend your ways. Such sneezing builds up terrific pressures in the nose, nasal sinuses and middle ear. It may thus cause nosebleed or infection in the sinuses or middle ear. The same holds true for the modest sneezer who has trained himself to abort an oncoming sneeze. There is also the possibility that such a sneeze may precipitate a stroke in an elderly person.

The hobgoblin sneezer accompanies each sneeze with a blood-curdling yell. His sneezing technique would be fine if he could learn to eliminate the yell. It accomplishes nothing except to lose friends and alienate people.

To sneeze properly all you need to do is to let the force of the sneeze come out through your open mouth and unless you are on a desert island, cover your mouth with your hand, hat, handkerchief or whatever is handy.

If you do this there is every chance that you will live to sneeze again.

Q — Is it possible for a 16-year-old girl to have a breast cancer? How can one detect it early?

A — Cancer of the breast can occur at any age but is extremely rare in girls under 20—less than one-tenth of 1 per cent of all cases. Any lump in the breast that you can feel with the flat of your hand should be examined by your doctor. If a cancer is present early complete removal gives the best chance for a cure.

Q — Will wearing contact lenses favor the growth of cataracts? Could contact lenses cause an increase in nearsightedness which had apparently been arrested for 15 years?

A — No to both questions. The rate at which cataracts develop is irregular and unpredictable. It is unusual for nearsightedness that has been stationary for 15 years to increase. In fact, as you approach 40 there is a tendency for the condition to improve. If it increased, your eye doctor should look for a possible cause. He will not find it in the contact lenses.

Sausage Machine Is Fired By Visitors

KINGWOOD, W. Va. (AP) — Visitors to a buckwheat festival rebelled at a sausage machine brought in to accommodate the thousands who came to eat gridle cakes and sausage.

The visitors said they wanted the old-fashioned hand-made sausage. So, 16 persons were put to work turning out sausages by hand.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

Dentists Examine Mouth, Also the Teeth

By William Lawrence, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Dear Dr. Lawrence: "You recently wrote that early detection of mouth cancer is an important factor in saving lives. If this is so, why don't dentists examine mouths? I don't ever remember going to a dentist who examined my mouth! They took care of my teeth only."

This is unusual. Most dentists are acutely conscious of the importance of complete mouth health and care. If your dentist doesn't examine your mouth every time you visit him — change dentists.

It's not enough for a dentist to place fillings in teeth, no matter how skillfully done; it's not enough to construct beautiful gold inlays and crowns, and perfect bridges and dentures; it's not enough to extract teeth or straighten teeth, or clean them or X-ray them. These are significant achievements but they are merely a part of dentistry's responsibility.

Most dentists feel that their obligations as members of the medical team entrusted with the health of our people include careful and complete examination of the mouth: lips, cheeks, hard and soft palates, areas behind molar teeth, tongue, floor of mouth, gums — and then teeth.

Some medical educators encourage dentists to go even further. Dr. Sam Harvey, former professor of surgery, Yale Medical School, felt that dentists should be concerned with the entire head and neck region. Patients with suspicious lesions in these areas should be made aware of them and advised to see their physician.

Dentists spend years in training, preparing themselves for just this kind of work. Their educational background and clinical acuity, together with new diagnostic tools now available, place them in a position of primacy in discovering and diagnosing lesions of the mouth.

Two tests are widely used in cancer detection. Both are painless and simple office procedures and, while not conclusive proof, they are excellent aids in determining presence of cancer cells.

Pap test: Cells, scraped from surface of suspected area, are "fixed" on a glass slide, then stained and examined microscopically.

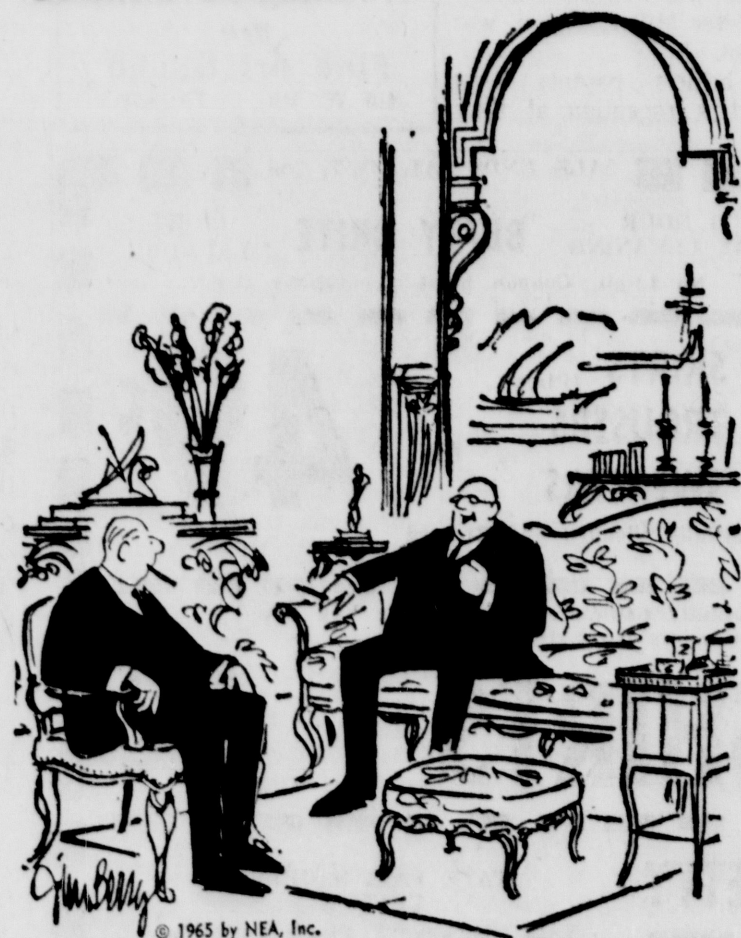

Tuluidine blue test: A solution of tuluidine blue stain is painted on suspected area and then washed off. Cancer cells retain blue stain; normal cells don't.

If cancer cells are suspected, a microscopic exam of the involved tissue (biopsy) is necessary for confirmation.

Any mouth lesion that has been present for more than two weeks is suspect and should be examined by your dentist. He could save your life.

Tells of Foreign Tour

By TED WALCH

Cultural exchange is an effective "weapon" toward world peace. Cultural exchange invites countries to share ideas in the arts; it permits communication at a universal level of understanding: conferences sometimes bog down because of language barriers, but a play or ballet is understood in any language.

It was my privilege to participate in a recent and exciting venture in cultural exchange. I was Stage Manager for the Catholic University Theater's production of Eugene O'Neill's only comedy, Ah, Wilderness!, which toured seven countries from May 16 to June 21, 1965, under the auspices of the United States Department of State.

The Reverend Gilbert V. Hartke, chairman of the Department of Speech and Drama at Catholic University in Washington, D. C., directed the production and conceived the idea for the tour. In 1962, in conversation with the Israeli minister, Abba Eban, Father Hartke presented his idea; the Israeli embassy followed through; the Department of State assumed sponsorship; and other countries joined in inviting the university group to perform.

Finances for travel and luggage were raised through private subscription. A largely Jewish list of subscribers contributed some $20,000 to pay for travel through Israel, Greece, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, England, and Ireland. The official host of the tour in each country was the American Embassy in that country which paid local living expenses for the group. Sale of tickets to the public defrayed some of these costs for the embassies; no one, however, made a profit, nor was profit an objective.

The touring group comprised twenty persons; 15 actors, the Stage Manager, the Technical Director, the Director of Publicity, a chaplain for the Roman Catholic members of the company, and Father Hartke. All but five of the students were postgraduates and the average age was 24.

Art, at whatever level, is a process of selection: the artist selects from life only that which is immediate and necessary to his purpose. Art is discrimination. Elie Faure says, "the whole process of Art is to define the universal, which at each moment escapes us, into an image that can define it forever."

The organization of an artistic enterprise is no less selective. The choice of play was the first selection to be made. Catholic University offered the American Embassy in Tel Aviv, Israel, Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" as its first choice for the tour. Shakespeare was rejected as contrary to the basic principles of cultural exchange. Israel wanted a play about American life by an American playwright performed by Americans. "Let the English do Shakespeare!" The idea makes sense and Father Hartke set about selecting a company which could capture the nostalgia and laughter with which O'Neill told his story of adolescence set in Connecticut, 1904.

A company of players was selected to tour at once compatible artistically and socially. The idea of ensemble playing pervaded the entire rehearsal period. My selection as Stage Manager was somewhat less discriminate; by a curious and rather bureaucratic system, I was next in line to stage manage a show at Catholic University—whatever show. It was my good luck that this particular play was to perform not only in Washington, D. C., but in seven foreign countries as well.

The three weeks rehearsal period was hectic: few of the company, including myself, had ever toured a play before and "tour considerations" determined our every move. We had to remain flexible. While we could carry costumes and hand properties, we knew that commercial airline weight allowances would not permit us to carry any scenery. We, therefore, had to stage a show readily convertible to any stage, however limited. Once on tour we were to learn just how limited a stage could be.

We opened on Wednesday evening, April 28, with a shaky show. Our audience, however, did not know the difference. A posh, formally dressed group, invited by the Israeli embassy, this audience paid more attention to each other than to the play. We escaped unscathed, and the remaining performances, now that the initial nervousness was over, were secure. We had a good show and could tour with confidence.

The next afternoon, at the invitation of Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, the company presented three scenes from the play in the East Room of the White House. As Stage Manager, I reported to the East Room at 2 a.m. for a two hour session with lighting technicians. The White House has no permanent stage and it was our job to hang the lamps which would light the afternoon's presentation. A 2 a.m. visit to the White House has its disadvantages: for one thing, with all the lights turned out it looks like any other building on Pennsylvania Avenue; for another, it takes at least 30 minutes to clear the gate even if your name has been given the guards in advance.

The actors arrived at noon in full costume. 1904 period costumes gave tourists leaving the White House a moment's pause; it was undoubtedly grist to any Republican's mill who thought the Johnsons indiscriminate in their choice of friends. (The characters in Ah, Wilderness! include a drunken journalist, a two-bit salesman, and a prostitute.)

We had two hours to rehearse on the East Room stage with no scenery. Much to our relief, however, we discovered that the play worked well using only chairs, stools, benches, and an occasional platform. The White House provided us four first tour conditions and our success there augured well for our success elsewhere.

Mrs. Johnson is a gracious hostess. The arrangements included a cocktail buffet in the State Dining Room where we met our audience, a distinguished assemblage of ambassadors, their staffs, and university presidents from the Washington area. The First Lady visited freely among the group, explaining many items of artistic interest in the decor of the mansion. Her manner was easy, her nature warm and outgoing. On a personal level, she drops that sometimes brash political air with which many have wrongly identified her.

She is also a realistic person. In introducing the play to her guests, she said that our travels would be "no luxury tour." How right she was! In our 5½ weeks of travel few of us saw many of the "sights." We were entertained and often, but as official representatives for our country we could hardly relax at these functions. Our job was to present a play, to give 21 performances in our 35 days abroad. (Those extra days were quickly consumed in travel between the 13 cities in the seven countries visited.)

The play was presented in English for the foreign public. Our audiences were not screened and not invited; they bought their tickets over the counter for an average price of $2. Language was not a problem. What lines were missed because of American speech idioms were not vital to an understanding of the play. In fact, our foreign audiences were more perceptive and alert than our audiences in Washington. They listened more attentively and they watched the play, not each other. They caught nuances of humor the actors had missed; they suggested interpretations of the script not thought of by the company. They were a delight.

Only once, in Rome, was simultaneous translation provided—through transistorized earphones. The effect was disastrous. Laughs came a line too late; the actors' timing was thrown off; the play lost its pace and punch.

My job as Stage Manager on tour was to arrange all areas of production; to see that the show ran smoothly regardless of stage conditions. Because we took no scenery, I had to select minimal scenic units in each place we performed. A list of necessary pieces of scenery had been sent to each theater in advance of our arrival but as often as not nothing had been done to secure what we needed. Such is characteristic of the well-known "efficiency" of the U. S. State Department.

Space does not permit a discussion of each country visited but Israel, Switzerland, and England warrant some detailed remarks.

Israel is a young, vigorous, and secular country. Judaism in Israel assumes a nationalistic rather than a religious form. The people are working to build a country, not a religion nor an aesthetic: the country has few synagogues, it has many laboratories and office buildings.

It was ironic, then, that in a country making rapid technical advances, we encountered our most primitive theatrical conditions. The run-of-the-mill theater technician in Israel does not compare favorably with his American counterpart: he is seldom concerned with perfection and his equipment is often outmoded. (I am speaking now of the civic auditoriums in which we performed—not of the established repertory theaters in Israel which maintain impeccable technical standards.)

In one auditorium in Tel Aviv, we encountered 500 watt lamps connected with ordinary household cord, or "zip cord." The obvious overload was so great that plugs had melted together. Lights were dimmed up and down with an antiquated rheostat inadequate to the circuit load and certainly incapable of any interesting lighting effects.

Once, however, in Haifa, Israel, we encountered an electronic lighting system more modern than most found in the United States. And its use did make a difference in the effectiveness of our presentation. Critics in Israel were kind. Chaim Gamzu, usually a cynical reviewer, gave us an enthusiastic notice in the leading Hebrew newspaper. Professional theater people praised the production and asked, should we return, to perform in some of Israel's better equipped theaters.

After Israel we gave two performances each in Greece and Italy. Then it was to Lausanne, Switzerland, for a one-night stand which proved a special time for the entire company.

Our official host in Switzerland was Ambassador Davis, known to Missourians as a prominent St. Joseph industrialist and President Johnson's appointee as Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. With his wife, Ambassador Davis received us, exhausted, with afternoon drinks and a buffet. All left the Ambassador feeling a bit better about America's official representatives abroad.

The citizens of Lausanne were equally warm. A young audience, they had studied Ah, Wilderness! at university and came to the performance equipped to understand and enjoy. The theater was equally well-equipped and our local technical assistance was more than competent.

In the Lausanne audience were two of Eugene O'Neill's grandchildren. The daughters of Oona O'Neill and Charlie Chaplin, Patricia and Victoria Chaplin saw their first O'Neill play and were visibly excited by the experience. (As some may recall, the circumstances surrounding Oona's marriage to Charlie Chaplin would hardly endear her father to the Chaplin family.)

After two performances, in Nurnberg and Munich, Germany, we went to Oxford, England, which to me was a highlight of our tour.

Oxford is a picturesque and traditional English village with a rich heritage in the arts. The Oxford Playhouse, in which we performed, is among the best English professional theaters. But because of Oxford University and the theater's sensitive management, the Playhouse leases its facilities to the University 12 weeks each year. As a result, an informed and highly capable team of professionals and undergraduates worked with us in production. Many in our company were taken back at the length of the Oxford undergraduates' hair: the Beatles looked clean-cut in comparison. But nowhere on our tour did we meet more intelligent, sensible, and decent theater people than those at Oxford. The English, long hair or not, are warm and considerate.

We performed on a Sunday evening to a small but enthusiastic audience. (British law prohibits publicity for a Sunday evening theatrical.) Those in attendance included the President of Magdalene College, who gave a generous speech to the company at curtain call, and Nevil Coghill, a noted translator of Chaucer and teacher of English verse. It was good to know that an academic audience greeted O'Neill's sentimental comedy with no less enthusiasm than a popular audience.

London went as well as Oxford, and we performed to two full houses at the Vanbrugh Theatre, Royal Academy of Dramatic Art. It was also in London that the actors had their finest moment. The British equivalent of a "rave notice" appearing in the "London Times" was printed evidence that they had done their best. The company was justifiably proud.

Three performances in Dublin to enthusiastic audiences brought our tour to a close. We returned home, exhausted but refreshed and satisfied in a job well done. Although we had solved no world problems, brought no crisis to an issue, we had shared our small art with other peoples. We had learned that laughter laughs in any language; that people speak with minds as well as tongues; that Art selects the particular to arrive at the universal—and the universal is understood by all.

Lists Things We Could All Do Without

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things we could do without:

Night clubs featuring waitresses who wear topless gowns or dress to look like rabbits.

Any more sales taxes for any reason whatsoever.

Authors who have their pictures taken while holding a pipe against their cheek in order to make them look more thoughtful.

Politicians who tour the streets bleating their campaign promises through loudspeakers atop sound trucks.

The telephone spellers who call you up at home when you are taking a nap and then try to sell you anything from an oil well to an encyclopedia with 109 volumes.

Anybody who talks golf during business hours or business during golfing hours.

People who think they've done a lot for your morale if they say "gesundheit" when you sneeze.

Foods wrapped in plastic bags which require a crowbar or a pair of pliers to open.

People who think it's cute to send out their Christmas cards before the first frost of Autumn.

Apartment dwellers who keep as pets dogs only slightly smaller than a shetland pony.

Television sportscasters who describe football players in a lingo so learned even the coaches on the field couldn't understand them.

Fashionable ladies who wear wigs so tall they are always getting them hooked in chandeliers.

Hosts who serve you meat loaf and fried eggplant for dinner and then make you sit for three hours in a darkened room while they show you photographic slides of their vacation trip through Yellowstone National Park.

People who brag that no matter what or how much they eat they never gain an ounce.

Cab drivers who think the story of their experiences would make a fascinating best seller—if you'd just sit down and write the book for them.

All amateur song writers.

The two-briefcase executive who takes home so much important work from the office he can't crowd it all into one briefcase.

Well-paid career women who invite a man to a business lunch—and then expect him to pick up the check.

People who let an elevator door slam shut in your face because they don't like to ride up with others.

Flavored lipstick.

Striped College PTA In September Meet

Striped College PTA meeting was held Friday, Sept. 17, at which an interesting program of demonstrations was given by the Striped College 4-H group.

The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Thomas Gardner and the devotion was given by Mrs. Charles Stilfield. The proposed budget was accepted and a carnival was decided on as a money-making project to be held on Saturday, Oct. 16.

An announcement was made that the PTA County Council will meet at the Missouri State Bank once a month.

It was voted to pay expenses for the president to the State Convention.

A social hour followed the meeting.

Smith-Cotton Notes

S-C Activities In Full Swing; Groups Meet, Form

By Janice Rundlett and Marty Phillips

"Hail, Alma Mater, hats off to you", sang Smith-Cotton Senior High students, recently as they attended the first assembly of the 1965-66 school year.

Dr. Bruce E. Riddle, principal, installed the newly elected members of the Senior High Student Council. The representatives were chosen in home rooms September 16, and will serve on the council for the first semester of the school year.

Sophomore members of the council are Terry Arnold, Dennis Boehne, Andy Cornwall, Cindy Delph, Dee Ellison, Lloyd Horner, Carla Quinn, Joe Bill Rains, Ann Rowles, and Jill Ulmer.

Juniors on the council are Jack Austin, Bud Clark, Cora Cooper, Jill Hopkins, Sandra Kreisel, Mary Viets, and Terri Wilson.

The seniors who compose one half of the council, are Jerry Cross, Richard Jacobi, Wayne Kitchen, David Koeller, Joe Lamy, Bill Morris, Marty Phillips, Teresa Preuitt, Pam Price, Butch Rozier, Janice Rundlett, Larry Scantlin, Fred Strickert, Jeanne Stuart, Buddy Turner, Janice Walker, and Sharon Waterfield.

Representing the Hubbard division are Albert Emerson and Debby Johnson.

Libby Mackie, Smith-Cotton's Foreign Exchange Student from Rhodesia, was also installed as an associate member of the council.

Officers have been selected for the council as follows: Janice Rundlett, president; Pam Price, vice-president; Buddy Turner, secretary; Marty Phillips, reporter; Butch Rozier, sergeant-at-arms; and Sharon Waterfield, parliamentarian.

After installing the council members, Dr. Riddle was seated, but later in the assembly rose again to address the students, and give them a few of his impressions of Smith-Cotton life in general. Dr. Riddle stressed the point that a minority group in a school such as Smith-Cotton can lower the reputation of the whole student body, if the majority group does not step in and overcome the undesirable minority. Dr. Riddle concluded by saying he felt sure that with the combined efforts of faculty and students this year at Smith-Cotton would be a fine one.

H. N. Branson, guidance counselor, spoke to the students the correct procedure in making appointments for counseling.

Also participating in the program was Jack Herndon, who sang "Blowing in the Wind," accompanied by Teresa Preuitt at the piano.

Ruth Cheffey, new pianist, and Linda Petree, recently elected songleader, were also on hand to lead students in the opening exercises.

Janice Rundlett, senior student council president, presided over the assembly and introduced those participating.

Spiz Club and Drill Team

"It looks as though an energetic and efficient Smith-Cotton Drill Team has been chosen for the '65 school year," stated Mrs. Dick Cooper, sponsor of the organization. The following girls were chosen as new members participating for the first time this year: Paula Edwards, Janet Reyburn, Janice Walker, and Brenda Wiseman, seniors; Karen Bartlett, Kay Bartlett, Vicki Berry, Phyllis Collins, Cora Cooper, Susan Garrett, Cathy Greer, phones as a pep booster and a money-making project for the Spiz Club has been made, Dee Dee Silverman, president of the organization announced today.

Girls Athletics Association
Julie Whitaker, president of GAA, introduced her officers for the following year at their first meeting Tuesday. They are Evelyn Smallwood, vice president; Marty Phillips, secretary; Marilyn Smithers, historian; Vicki Ray, Linda Pearson and Kathy Greer, sports managers. Julie announced that soccer will be the first tournament played.

Drama Club
Craig Cassing has been elected president of the Drama Club, Walter J. McCormick, director of forensics, said today. The following officers have also been elected: Carolin Reisdorph, vice president; Marsha Miller, treasurer; and Dick Wasson and Ann Durlley, business managers.

Angels Whip Reds

2 Forgotten Superstars Play Key Baseball Roles

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Superstar of Tomorrow who fizzled — Willie Davis.

The Superstar of Yesterday who became the forgotten man of the pitching staff — Johnny Podres.

They played key roles Monday night as the astonishing Los Angeles Dodgers swept to their 10th straight victory and remained tied with San Francisco for the National League lead.

Davis drove in three runs with a pair of homers and Podres was the winning pitcher as Los Angeles whipped Cincinnati's third-place Reds 6-1. The victory was a must for the Dodgers, with the Giants winning an afternoon game 8-4 over St. Louis, powered by Tom Haller's two homers and five runs batted in.

Davis seemed a sure bet to become a top star when he broke in with the Dodgers in 1960, but has been an inconsistent performer. The speedy center fielder went into the vital game against the Reds with a .246 batting average and one September homer — and promptly got the Dodgers away winging with a two-run homer in the first inning.

He hit his 10th of the season in the seventh, climaxing the runaway.

Podres, the 33-year-old southpaw who was the World Series ace for the Dodgers a decade ago, held the Reds to five hits and left after five innings with a 5-1 lead.

Ron Perranoski frustrated Cincinnati over the final four innings.

Haller homered with two on in the second inning against loser Tracy Stallard and knocked in another run on an infield out in the third, helping San Francisco build a 7-1 lead against the Cardinals. But it was no breather for the Giants.

The Cards got a run off Warren Spahn in the fourth, scored again and chased the 44-year-old southpaw in the fifth, and got two more runs and had the bases loaded in the sixth.

But relief ace Frank Linzy stopped that threat, and held St. Louis in check the rest of the way. He was credited with the victory, making his record 9-3. Haller bashed his second homer, and 15th of the year, in the seventh.

In other NL games — the Chicago Cubs nipped Philadelphia 1-0 on Larry Jackson's four-hit pitching and Billy Williams' run-scoring single, and Houston scored the winning run in the 10th on a wild pitch, beating Milwaukee 4-3. Pittsburgh and New York were not scheduled.

Baltimore won its eighth straight in the American League's only game, clipping Kansas City 6-4 with Curt Blefary's two-run triple in the eighth the decisive blow.

Williams settled the pitching duel between Jackson and the Phillies' Jim Bunning in the eighth when he singled home Don Landrum, who had singled and been sacrificed to second.

In a losing effort, Bunning allowed six hits and struck out 11.

The Astros got their winning run against the Braves without a hit. Joe Morgan opened the bottom of the 10th with a walk off Dan Osinski, stole second with one out, and then Jim Wynn walked. Both advanced on a passed ball and Morgan came in on Osinski's wild pitch.

Milwaukee tied it 3-3 in the ninth on Joe Torre's double, a triple by Frank Bolling and a fielder's choice play.

The Orioles overcame the Athletics with three runs in the eighth on singles by Boog Powell and Brooks Robinson. Blefary's triple and Jerry Adair's sacrifice fly.

Solich Is Named Back Of The Week

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Nebraska's 158-pound Frank Solich, fullback and offensive captain of a team loaded with brawny giants, squirted through and around Air Force defenders for 204 yards rushing to be named Big Eight conference Back of the Week.

"It certainly was one of the finest running performances I've seen," said Bob Devaney, Nebraska coach. "Frank is a tremendous competitor despite his size."

The Big Eight Lineman of the Week was Don Nelson, a 215-pound ex-Marine who plays defensive guard for Missouri. Nelson made life miserable all afternoon for Glenn Baxter, Oklahoma State quarterback.

Solich had touchdown runs of 80, 21 and 41 yards in Nebraska's 27-17 victory. His total of 204 is 10th highest rushing figure in conference history and a Nebraska school record. He carried 17 times.

Said Mike Corgan, Nebraska backfield coach, "When Solich is at fullback and would be required to block, we don't call any different plays. We use him as a receiver, ball carrier, fader and blocker. He is very well coordinated in all phases of football."

Solich termed his 80-yard run a pleasant surprise. He said "It was just a power play, but there was a hole as wide as a table." The little senior from Cleveland, Ohio, taped five pounds of weights under his shorts at weigh-in time a year ago to come in at 162.

The other back candidates were Missouri halfback Charlie Brown, with 109 yards in 31 trips; Kansas halfback Rich Abernethy who made a 48-yard scoring run, blocked well and caught two passes; Oklahoma halfback Tommy Pannell, 82 rushing, 65 pass receiving and 42 on kickoff returns;

Iowa State halfback Les Webster with 119 yards in 18 carries, two touchdowns and strong blocking; Oklahoma State safety Harry Cheatwood, in on 11 tackles; and Colorado halfback William Harris, 113 yards in 10 carries, including 31 for the winning T.D., breaking a tackle.

The low-slung Nelson, who'll be 23 this fall, led the charge as Baxter was thrown for four losses totaling 24 yards. He had a hand in 11 tackles, six unassisted. Nelson played Marine football at Okinawa and San Diego and was steered to Missouri by Glenn St. Pierre, fullback at Missouri in 1956-58. He is a native of Fairmont, Minn.

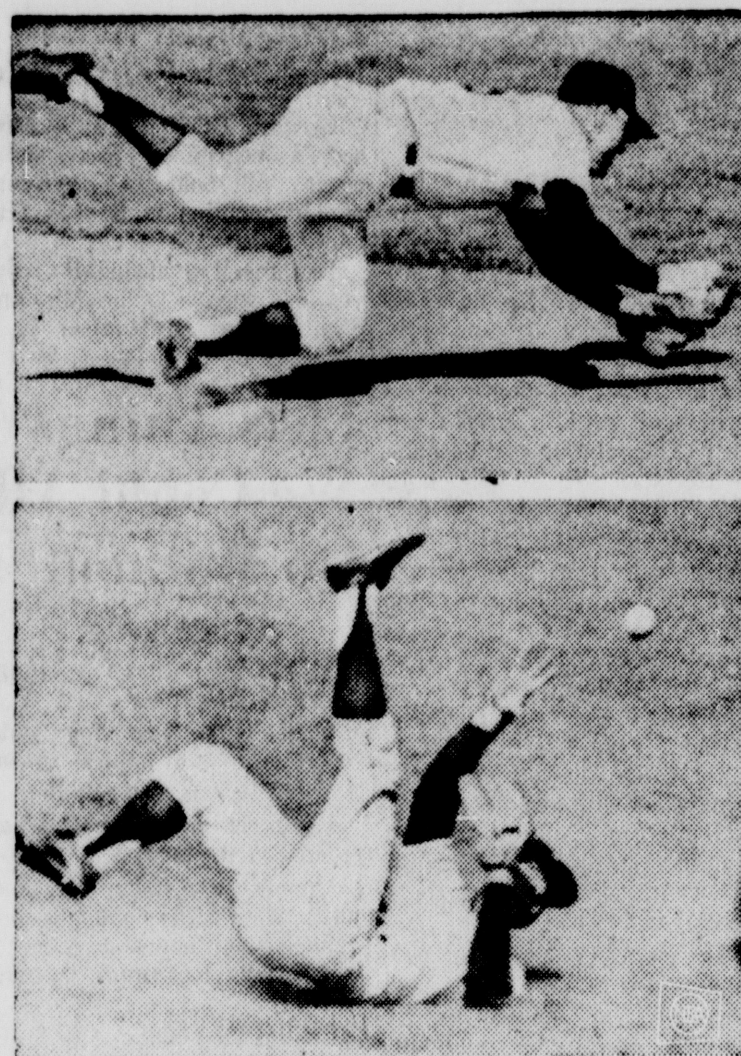

Other line nominees were defensive ends Ernie Kennedy of Iowa State and Sam Harris of Colorado; split end Sim Stokes of Kansas; defensive guard Charles Harper of Oklahoma State; offensive end Tony Jeter of Nebraska; and a tie at Oklahoma between defensive tackle Mike Base and offensive guard Wes Butts.

K-State had no nominees.

Race Time Favored

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Race Time was the odds-on favorite to win the $50,000 HTA racing series final tonight at the opening of Roosevelt Raceway's fall meeting.

Distressed By Rumors About Pay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Distressed by a report that he was going to seek a $150,000 salary from the San Francisco Giants next year, Willie Mays went to club owner Horace Stoneham today and assured him he knew nothing about it.

"I knew the man upstairs (Stoneham) was gonna raise the dickens at a story like this, at this time, so I had to talk to him," said the great center fielder.

"I don't like to see such things in print," he added. "I've never discussed my salary with any newspaperman. I regard things like that as private between me and the old man."

Mays is baseball's highest salaried performer at $105,000. The report didn't quote Mays, but said the source was Jake Shemano, Willie's financial adviser.

Stoneham appeared more puzzled than angry over the story. "When the time comes," he said, "we'll sit down and discuss Willie's contract. If it's $150,000 he wants, let him ask for it. We've never had any problem before."

"As for Mr. Shemano, I advised him to run his bank. I run the Giants," Shemano is president of the Golden Gate National Bank.

Haseltine Fourth Foreign Entry Named

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Italy's Haseltine was named Tuesday as the fourth foreign entry for the 14th running of the Washington D.C. International horse race Nov. 11.

The 5-year-old Haseltine has won four of five starts this year. He joins Diatome of France, Convamore of England and Aniline of Russia in the prospective field for the 1 1/2 mile grass race worth $150,000.

John D. Schapiro, Laurel president, will be looking for more entries as a witness of the Prix de L'Arc de Triomphe in Paris Oct. 3. Three foreign derby winners and Tom Rolfe, the U.S. 3-year-old winner of the Preakness, are among those being pointed for the Longchamp race.

Wilhelm Wolfgang Goethe was born, Aug. 28, 1749.

Bengals Trounce Slater

The Smith-Cotton junior varsity trounced the Slater Wildcats 31-12 at Slater Monday night.

In the first quarter Mike Robertson ran 44 yards before being stopped on the ten yard line. On the next play he crossed the goal line. The extra point attempt failed. Slater was forced to punt to the Tigers and on the next series of downs a pass from quarterback Larry Thomas to Terry Arnold, good for 28 yards, set up a touchdown in which Robertson scored from a yard out. Again the conversion attempt failed.

In the second quarter Sedalia recovered a fumble after kicking off to their opponents. After taking the ball on the 38 yard line, Thomas ran the ball across the goal line from the six.

After kicking off to Slater again, Mike Robertson intercepted a pass which put the Tigers on the 36-yard-line. Following a 19-yard run by Dick Dixon, Thomas again scored from the five. Don Thompson ran the extra point into the end zone. The first half ended with S-C leading 25-0.

In the second half the Tigers kicked off to Slater who made one first down before being stopped by the locals. The Tigers fumbled two plays later. Slater took advantage of the gain by scoring on a 18-yard pass from quarterback John Pemberton to halfback Wayne Blake.

In the final period Sedalia took the kickoff and turned it into a score when Larry Thomas threw a 39-yard bomb to Kid Dixon for the final Tiger touchdown. The conversion failed.

David Brumer scored on a one-yard plunge for Slater ending their scoring. The PAT attempt was unsuccessful. Sedalia 12 13 0 6 31 Slater 0 0 6 6 12

Giardello In Hard Workout On Monday

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — Middleweight champion Joey Giardello boxed six hard rounds with Milo Calhoun of Kingston, Jamaica, B.W.I., Monday in his best workout since he opened his training camp here a week ago.

Giardello, of Philadelphia, defends his title against the former champion, Dick Tiger of Nigeria, in New York's Madison Square Garden on Oct. 21.

Calhoun landed several good rights to the head during the six rounds at Kutscher's Country Club. Giardello countered each time with good right-left combinations.

Tigers Hold Workout

Capsule Views Of Big Eight Teams

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Missouri's football squad, which came through its 13-0 victory over Oklahoma State Saturday with no injuries of consequence, held its customary light Monday practice with the regulars working in sweat clothes.

Players first looked at films, then heard a scouting report on Minnesota by assistant coach Tom Fletcher before taking to the field to set up defenses for use against the Gophers Saturday at Minneapolis.

The only absentees were fullback Carl Reese, who was excused to attend the funeral of a relative, and guard Al Pepper, who was observing a Jewish holiday.

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Iowa State is expected to test Nebraska's pass defenses fully in Saturday's Big Eight opener. Husker football coach Bob Devaney told the Downtown Quarterback Club Monday.

Scouting reports indicate Iowa State is better than last year, the club was told.

Devaney conceded that the Air Force, 27-17 victim of the Huskers last Saturday, had Nebraska "on the ropes" in the second and third periods but Nebraska came back in the final period, despite fatigue.

Devaney hinted at possible lineup changes but did not identify them.

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Offensive tight end Bill Fairband was moved into the defensive right end position Monday as Colorado began preparing for Saturday's Big Eight opener at Kansas State.

The defensive position was left open when two-year regular Ray Le Masters suffered a knee injury in Colorado's 10-7 win over Fresno State Saturday. Le Masters underwent surgery on the knee Monday and is expected to be out the remainder of the season.

Taking Fairband's place on the offensive unit was junior Tad Polumbus who had been working at tackle. Sam Harris, regular defensive left end and rated one of the best all-around players on the team, may also play some at tight end Saturday.

Varsity reserves scrimmaged against the freshmen.

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma State's first offensive and defensive units worked out their kinks in sweatclothes Monday while the reserves butted heads in a full-speed scrimmage.

Reflecting on the Cowboys' 13-0 loss to Missouri Saturday, head coach Phil Cutchin said, "I still think we'll have a better ball team than last year's."

Looking forward to the Cowboys' 47th and last meeting with Tulsa Saturday, Cutchin said, "Everybody's aware of Tulsa's fine passing game but few people realize what fine defense they play."

Cutchin said his defensive ends have made the biggest improvement during the past week. He also praised the Cowboy defense which limited Missouri to one touchdown, forcing the Tigers to go for field goals four times, two of which were successful.

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — No personnel changes were made as the University of Oklahoma practiced Monday for its game here Saturday against Navy.

The defensive team concentrated on pass defense while the offense worked on picking up blocking assignments and kicking.

Although Oklahoma lost to Pitt in its opener last Saturday, Coach Gomer Jones expressed pleasure that the team kept fighting and scored a touchdown after it was behind 13-3.

AMES, Iowa, (AP) — Heavy showers hampered Iowa State's football preparations Monday for Saturday's Big Eight conference opener at Nebraska.

The team put on gym shoes and worked on some of their plays inside the gymnasium.

LAWRENCE, Kan., (AP) — Two of Kansas' top performers will be out of the line-up for an indefinite period with leg injuries, coach Jack Mitchell said Monday.

Quarterback Bob Skahan, who repelled a hamstring muscle in Saturday's game, will miss this week's game with California.

Willie Ray Smith, split end, was in Kansas City Monday for evaluation of his reinjured knee.

In line-up changes Mike O'Brien moved to starting offensive center, Bob Kreutzer to number one offensive left guard and Bill Perry to starting offensive right guard.

Cards May Force Tie In N. L.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If the St. Louis Cardinals have their way, the National League pennant race will end in a tie between Los Angeles and San Francisco.

After losing three straight to the Dodgers to help them into a deadlock with the Giants, now it's the Giants' turn.

They pummeled the Cardinals 8-4 Monday behind the bat of Tom Haller.

The San Francisco catcher smacked a homer with two on in the second off loser Tracy Stallard for a 3-0 lead. He later slammed a solo blast for the final Giants' run, after driving in a fifth run with a forceout in the third inning.

Tonight St. Louis throws rookie Larry Jaster (1-0) against Ron Herbel (11-8).

Kansas City had its usual trouble with Baltimore. The Orioles beat the A's, 6-4, in Baltimore on Curt Blefary's two-run triple in a three-run eighth inning.

Bert Campaneris had put the A's ahead in the top half of the inning with a run-scoring single.

The A's did get some satisfaction. They stole eight bases, two each by Campy Campaneris, Ed Charles and Jose Tartabull.

The A's travel to Washington for a two-night doubleheader to night, with Jim Hunter (8-6) and John O'Donoghue (8-18) against the Senators' Pete Craig (0-2) and Joe Coleman (0-0).

MUST READY FOR

Enlarged Federal

Role In Schools

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Gov. Warren E. Hearnes said Monday "We must be prepared for a substantially expanded role of the federal government in the support and direction of our public elementary schools."

He said "more and more of our pressing school problems are going to have to be solved on the national level, rather than on a state or local basis."

But the state and local governments still have a stake—a tremendous one—to provide a share in public education, Hearnes said in a speech prepared for the 31st annual conference of the Missouri Association of Secondary school principals.

"In the total picture," he said "public colleges and universities today receive only 37 per cent of their total support from state funds. Today, federal support is almost 25 per cent and is growing rapidly."

But "locally, if we live in a wealthy and productive community, we have not only a responsibility to our own community but also a responsibility to provide assistance in the case of a concerned but impoverished one."

"This has been the keynote of the federal government and it should be the keynote of our own."

Fisherman Lives

'Triumph For Fish'

SHEFFIELD, England (AP)—

This is a real fish story.

George Holland, dropped his bait can into the Derwent River, then dropped his car keys trying to recover the can.

Worse followed. He fell into the river trying to recover the keys. He had to force a side window to get into his car and, without keys, had to short the ignition to start the engine. But he couldn't turn the wheel since the anti-theft device on it was locked.

"The whole affair," George said, "was a triumph for the fish."

Monetary Reform Creates Much Talk In Washington

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Monetary reform will inspire a lot of talk in Washington this week, but the real horse trading may be in trying to coax more money for the have-not nations from the treasuries of the haves.

The world's leading financial authorities are in Washington for the annual meetings of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund. U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler would like to see a start made toward easing the strain on international financial dealings that comes every now and then and could conceivably grow worse in a few years.

A first step may be taken toward looking for something to supplement gold, dollars and pounds, now commonly held as reserves and used to settle international payments when they get out of kilter.

The step may be taken, that is, unless France or some other nation objects too much. France particularly has been cool to Fowler's suggestions. The rest of affluent Europe also thinks the present arrangement is adequate now and may continue to be for some time to come.

The British pound has recently made a comeback, strengthened by a standby fund put up by most of the leading financial nations, except France.

The U.S. dollar is strong. This country achieved a slight surplus in its international payments in the second quarter of this year—its first in more than seven years. This could point to the day when U.S. payment deficits cease to furnish much of the rest of the world with the buildup in reserves that has enabled other lands to handle their payments problems neatly.

But this year U.S. exports are expanding slowly, while imports are growing fast. And the payment surplus could turn into a deficit again, giving other nations less to worry about—except how good the U.S. dollar might be.

All this may slow the pace toward any monetary reform such as the United States has suggested should be sought.

But the demand of the have-not nations for more money to spur their development will be strong in Washington this week.

The World Bank reports that these nations have borrowed so much in recent years that much of their available funds now goes for repayments on old loans. The growth of these have-not nations has been slower than that of the affluent industrialized ones.

The bank puts the total annual national product of the industrialized nations at $1.1 trillion in 1964, up $180 billion from the $920 billion of 1960. For the developing countries the total was $200 billion in 1964, compared with $170 billion in 1960.

World Bank officials hold that if these developing countries are ever to catch up they must have longer term loans and lower interest rates. Otherwise, they'll be spending an over large proportion of their export earnings just on repaying outstanding loans.

Revolution In Education For the Mentally Retarded

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Weber remembers it as a "pitifully crude" Christmas card. But he says it changed his life.

Weber—then a popular, young jazz pianist—was given the homemade card by a 15-year-old mentally retarded boy who admired his talents.

"When that boy handed me the card, something inside me changed," Weber recalled. "I suddenly realized how self-centered my life was and I vowed to do something about it."

That was seven years ago. Today, far from the small Illinois town where he was handed the card before giving a Christmas recital in a mental institution, Weber has set into motion at Columbia University Teachers College a revolution in the education of severely mentally retarded children.

He devised a six-note method of instructing the mentally retarded in the playing of musical instruments, using letters on sheet music which correspond to letters pasted on the keys of a piano.

"We're 100 per cent behind him," said Dr. Harry R. Wilson, chairman of the Music Education Department. "This fellow well might completely revolutionize the whole concept of teaching such children."

Weber, 38, began work on his system while music director for the schools of Yates City, Ill. He had taken the post shortly after the Christmas card incident.

Now he is working on his doctorate in music at Columbia and conducts regular weekly music classes for mentally retarded children as part of his research for the degree.

Among his pupils is Peter Connolly, 12, who, up to several weeks ago, couldn't sit still at a piano, much less play a tune.

"Today, Peter walks up to the piano or takes his clarinet in hand and he plays such tunes as 'Jingle Bells,' 'Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star,' and many others," said the boy's widowed mother, Catherine Connolly.

"But it doesn't end there," she said. "Probably the biggest benefit for Peter is the fact that at long last he realizes he can do something. He feels needed and wanted among other people."

Nicola Maranez has been bringing her retarded son, Scorpio, 7, to Weber's classes for a month.

"Scorpio is hyperactive," she said. "Until these lessons came along there was nothing that could hold his attention for over a few seconds."

"Now, he is much different," she added. "I don't say he is normal. He'll never be that with the brain damage he had at birth. But he's so much easier to manage and he gets a little something out of life now."

Scorpio was among about a dozen youngsters gathered recently for a Saturday afternoon class under Weber. About 10 teachers at the school stood around the room as Weber put the youngsters through their paces.

"You must realize," he said, "that up to now children like these were considered unteachable. They can't even clean themselves or talk much better than a mumble or grunt."

"Yet, with this method I have proved that they can learn if someone will give them learning in little doses such as I do with only six notes of music."

To Name Two Judges For Jackson Circuit

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A list of six lawyers was named Monday from which Gov. Warren E. Hearnes will select two judges for new divisions of the Jackson County Circuit Court.

The list was drawn by a circuit judicial commission. Named were: Robert A. Meyers, 42; George T. O'Laughlin, 39; Laurence R. Smith, 50; William W. Cochran, 52; Donald L. Mason, 40, and Charles Shengler, 42, all of Kansas City.

The other entry is "Let's Play Post Office," which is not the old children's game but one based on the reading of gag letters loaded with clues through which audience participants are supposed to identify the supposed writer. It was pretty heavy going.

PROTEST HIKE—Mrs. Helen Hall, 68, wearing sign which reads "Walking across country to protest starvation relief allotment from state of Penna." arrives in Los Angeles after walking and hitchhiking from Philadelphia. Mrs. Hall said that she walked about 1,500 miles of her trek cross-country. She said she started her protest march last July 8 to "let the world know that Philadelphia is not the City of Brotherly Love." Miss Hall said she was unhappy because she was presented a $2,000 hospital bill in 1959 after treatment for a broken arm on state aid of $64.40 a month. (UPI)

Potato-Growing Record Is Claimed

FUNTINGTON, England (AP) — Tom Cooke, 58, has laid claim to the potato-growing championship of the world.

From six plants in his cottage garden he says he has dug a total of 566 pounds 4 ounces of potatoes.

He now plans to retire from competition and rest on his record unless "someone, particularly in the United States, claims a better record."

Late Harvest

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Less than five per cent of Missouri's soybean crop has been harvested versus a normal 20 per cent.

The state climatologist said Monday this was due to the heavy rains over the state last week.

The weekly report said prospects for corn remain good, but that the harvest was hampered by the weather.

Rains during the week ranged generally from 1.50 to 3 inches, with 6 inches in some areas.

Dedicates Art Center

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Gov. Richard J. Hughes has dedicated a $7.2-million arts center near the statehouse. The center includes a museum, auditorium, planetarium and library. Two of the buildings are open. The center is due to begin full operations within three weeks.

Want Private Services For Clara Bow

By JAMES BACON
AP MOVIE-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The year was 1930 and Clara Bow began 35 years of sleepless suffering.

The go-go pace of eight flaming years in movies turned her into a semi-invalid while still young. But at 60 her health had improved some, and death when it came Monday morning was unexpected.

That first breakdown ended her reign as queen of the jazz age. It also ended her Paramount contract, one which had brought millions to the boxoffice and wealth to her.

Those high-strung 35 years made a recluse out of a Brooklyn beauty contest winner who came up too fast in a fast, fast era.

The actress suffered a heart attack while watching the late, late show on television, a habit of her insomniac years.

Her nurse looked in on her in her West Los Angeles home but found her rigid and trembling. Mouth-to-mouth resuscitation failed to revive her and she was dead when a doctor arrived.

Thus in death she found the sleep that had eluded her through her high-tension life.

Her son, Rex Bell Jr., 30, of Reno, Nev., wants the seclusion of his mother's life to extend to her funeral. Her body will be on view Thursday at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, where funeral services will be conducted Friday at 11 a.m.

The son said his reasons for a

Another Delay On Gateway Arch

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The firm that has the steel contract for the Gateway Arch indicated another construction delay is possible which would set back "topping out" ceremonies one week.

A major civic celebration for completion of the 630-foot arch, already delayed by strikes, bad weather and engineering problems, had been scheduled for Oct. 17 when the final keystone section was to be inserted.

However, the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co., has sent a letter to McDonald Construction Co., the general contractor, mentioning Oct. 20 or "a few days" later as the closure date.

Vaccine Supply Short In Maryville Area

MARYVILLE, Mo. (AP)—The supply of Sabin oral polio vaccine ran out Monday after about 6,200 people received doses. Some 200 persons had to be turned away from the clinic sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

private funeral stemmed from the circus atmosphere of his father's funeral in 192. That was the first public appearance of Miss Bow and it brought out a crowd of photographers and television crews.

But the son doubts that his mother's funeral will be any less hectic.

Miss Bow married Rex Bell, cowboy star who later became lieutenant governor of Nevada, in 1931. They had another son, George, 27, who may be prevented by serious illness from attending his mother's rites. He lives in Las Vegas, Nev.

Find New Way To Stop Shortness Of Breath, Gasping For Air In Asthma Attacks

Formula Doctors Prescribe Most Opens Locked Bronchial Tubes. Stops Attacks. Restores Free Breathing In Minutes.

New York, N.Y. — A modern medical formula has proved amazingly effective in relieving shortness of breath and difficulty in breathing for asthma sufferers. It stops choking attacks in minutes and restores normal breathing again. Prompt use helps severe attacks from even starting.

This formula is so effective doctors prescribe it more than any other. It comes in tiny tablets called Primatene®. Primatene promptly opens up locked bronchial tubes and keeps them open for hours. Trapped air is released. You can breathe in and out freely again. It loosens phlegm. Calms panic. Brings you back to normal fast. Taken as directed, Primatene is so safe it can now be sold without prescription in most states. Always carry Primatene with you.

Steal Three Trees, Garage From Woman

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Three oak trees and a garage have been stolen from an Atlanta woman's home, apparently by a man who will not take no for an answer.

Police quoted Ermagard Lamoureux as saying she received a telephone call while visiting in North Carolina from a man who asked permission to remove the trees from her yard.

Mrs. Lamoureux said she refused but returned to find the trees and her garage missing, police reported.

Visit Coal Plants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Observers from eight countries that are large purchasers of U.S. coal will visit coal producing and distributing facilities in three states next month.

They will visit Huntington, W.Va.; Ashland, Ky.; Toledo, Ohio, and the western Kentucky coal mining area. The observers come from Japan, Great Britain, France, Italy, Holland, Germany, Belgium and Argentina.
